just3ants.com looking good.

We, Marie and I spent some 7 odd hours on the cliffs of Del Mar in front of the cliff house waiting for the steam engine that last passed through here in 1953 to pass by twice.

All we did on occasion was walk back to the cliff house for "refreshments" for some 10 or so of us; not to mention the 60 year very young Englishman on the far left on the photo below and his buddy the 50 year young also Englishman, bending alongside me in the white shirt with dark glasses, finished just yesterday a 1700 mile bike ride, doing 100 miles a day from Canada all the way to Mexican border in some 17 days, no need for you to do the math.

Now you know for both Marie and me to be pretty much stationary in one spot all day in the open air would have to take much more than just absolutely perfect weather knowing that if we drank too much excellent wine we would just have to cross the railway tracks before collapsing in to bed.

The photo below shows some folks picking up some 500 pennies I had placed on the tracks just before the train returned from San Diego, late some 4 hours, just as it was in the morning.

In the foreground you see the back of me wearing a large sun hat talking with two South Africans; the male a South African peradontist from Johannesburg who last saw my sister Kathy when he and her were on Ulpan together in Jerusalem back in 1968, and his wife who went to the same high school as me in South Africa, Carmel College Durban, and who happens to be the daughter of Selwyn Lurie, a good friend of my father who was also during World Oil War II a fighter-bomber-pilot stationed in Burma, and like my father did not participate in Israel's War of Independence; not to mention over the years my father has often mentioned Selwyn's name but I don't believe he and I have ever met, and perhaps if his daughter "persists" we might meet since Selwyn is "alive and well" in perfect climate Del Mar.

Ps – I am glad to see you picked up on in your CIA History that rather important date 1970 (correct the spelling of Chief....):

1970: 'Black September' responsible for the Munich Massacre

Al Hassan Salameh, Cheif of Operation for terrorist group 'Black September' responsible for the Munich Massacre - Salameh served as a secret contact between the PLO and the CIA from 1970 until his death, guaranteeing not assassinating Americans in exchange for financial and political support. He helped protect Americans in Beirut, and his role was to facilitate contacts between the Palestinians and Americans, in hope of obtaining American support for the Palestinians.

Not to mention you will recall in Steven SPIelberg's epic 2005 movie MUNIch how this fast Hollywood "talker" leaves little to the imagination that the CIA interfered with a Mossad hit on Al Hassan Salameh on a rainy street; again one of the many things Mr. SPIelberg who again won't touch Epstein's The Diamond Invention with a 100 foot pole, got correct without ever forgetting how very wrong he got the Mossad ever paying for its own French intelligence or weapons system going back to at least when I first met with David Ben Gurion on November 1st, 1972 while I was on a 4 month Ulpan based at Sde Boker, Negev Desert.

To mention little of you can bet your bottom worthless-fictitious De Beers-Dollar that very bright Tzipi Livni very familiar with the streets of Paris, is paying very careful attention to my writing even if my photos consume lots of email disk space.

To mention in passing the latest from Shunit.

Subject: Spanish Computer..

A Spanish Teacher was explaining to her class that in Spanish, unlike English, nouns are designated as either masculine or feminine.

'House' for instance, is feminine: 'la casa.' 'Pencil,' however, is masculine: 'el lapiz.'

A student asked, 'What gender is 'computer'?'

Instead of giving the answer, the teacher split the class into two groups, male and female, and asked them to decide for themselves whether computer' should be a masculine or a feminine noun. Each group was asked to give four reasons for its recommendation.

The men's group decided that 'computer' should definitely be of the Feminine gender('la computadora'), because:

1. No one but their creator understands their internal logic;
2. The native language they use to communicate with other computers is Incomprehensible to everyone else;
3. Even the smallest mistakes are stored in long term memory for possible later retrieval; and
4. As soon as you make a commitment to one, you find yourself spending half your paycheck on accessories for it.

(THIS GETS BETTER!)

The women's group, however, concluded that computers should be Masculine ('el computador'), because:

1. In order to do anything with them, you have to turn them on;
2. They have a lot of data but still can't think for themselves;
3. They are supposed to help you solve problems, but half the time they ARE the problem; and
4. As soon as you commit to one, you realize that if you had waited a Little longer, you could have gotten a better model.

The women won.

Send this to all the smart women you know...and all the men that have a sense of humor
