Subject: FAVORED SLAVE...IN SUPPORT OF OUR SOUTH EAST ASIA POLICY....corrupt... MaryRose "The Witch" Cusimano.... DEMAND THE RETURN OF ALL THE...

Dear John,

JoNathan, my wife's 15-year old son who I have tried to help her raise with a value system since he was 18 months of age just got home from his mostly LWWE high school and after asking me how the video taping went this morning told me just as he was running down the stairs of our one-of-kind rented studio cliff home perched atop the bluffs of heavily corrupt Lily White Wheaty Eating Del Mar, California on his way to play with his LWWE friends;

"We learned in school today that Walt Disney saw a utopia nation depicting colored people either as savages in the jungle or indiscriminately killing white pioneers - cowboys versus Indians... His main thing was that Disneyland theme parks show no ghettos, just places where rich white people lived... Tar babies, the name given to Black children... Actors talking with Black American accents always being fooled, looking so stupid" [sic]!

Okay, what else would you like to know about my awesome life here in LWWE Del Mar given how well you know this racism is all one most extraordinary distraction, that the "name of the game" is only the "color of money" and the only reason people like you are in this so extraordinarily DAAC controlled country that few if any kids have the first clue about is because people like you are so very easily indoctrinated in to believing in the Almighty Dollar given how very shell-shocked you remain from witnessing first hand unmentionable atrocities courtesy of simply very corrupt business people who combined with the corrupt church and academia, the new corrupt church, now have you as their "emissaries" so disgustingly perpetuating their genocide when sending back to your impoverished countrymen the so very blackened U.S.-DeBeers Dollar.

John, I know you really do not need me to spell out what it is exactly that has you like most getting more than their fair share of the graft-spoils of oil wars not wanting to hear another word from me as you begin to think more like a Wall Street person how best to capitalize on all the real estate foreclosures.

And of course there are other things to think about in addition to whether you will be able to afford the ship fare home that I daresay would include not knowing when the bottom will hit and at the same time still finding the time to think about each moment you waste not doing anything to save your soul.

I really don't commiserate with your or anyone else's misery knowing as much knowledge about how the real world works and who exactly is the most responsible for the extraordinary mess the world is in right now and we cant just be blaming the United States of America given how there are in fact so very few United States citizens actually benefiting from all the U.S. genocides beginning with the Anglo American Boer War of 1899-1902 and the U.S. led 8 Allied invasion of China in 1900 which the masses of Americans for good reason know so very little about just like the masses throughout the world.

But with each passing moment what you DON'T WANT TO HEAR is not only being heard but so very easily understood and I have yet to produce a single VOD cast!

You are also not alone in wondering what happened with my first Video On Demand cast that us 3 ants hoped you and at least some 400 million wired Chinese would get to see this weekend were it not for Adam Tucker yet to master this new medium along with the Sony hard drive cameras and my no nonsense French-Canadian wife deciding when seated a body length away from me at the end of our rather long and very comfortable black leather couch looking out on the most awesome Pacific Ocean, in the midst of my first ever "camera interview", to throw me a most unexpected "knuckleball" that had me turning my neck left and right between her seated to my right and Adam in front to my left, to the point that given I wasn't saying anything you would have very possibly concluded I had simply decided to exercise my scalene muscles in the neck to avoid repetitive-stress-injuries such as carpal tunnel syndrome which you would know is often misdiagnosed as a wrist ailment when in fact many an expert physician in this area would acknowledge it is nothing more than referred pain from not exercising the scalene muscle which is not to suggest that I have you now sufficiently distracted to be thinking that I would think it a smart move to have you sell all your gold, invest in a sales force and immediately begin marketing manual typewriters that when moving the “carriage” from side to side with your one hand and the next time with your nose, alternating every so often with each one of your toes, this one disorder is mitigated which in turn creates a problem of course for the hand and wrist surgeons whose Trust Funds for their spoiled oil brat children are negatively impacted.

I think I know how you feel that until the gold market crashes or the price of gold skyrockets; i.e. reaches infinity relative to the U.S. Dollar worth no more than the worthless toilet paper it is currently written on, you see no point in “rocking the boat” since compared to spending your time when not burying the skin and bones bodies of your fellow countryboys when just age 13 you are doing just “great”, at least that is how you were feeling before beginning to read this very heavily broadcasted communiqué!

So to suddenly “bite the hand that feeds you” is nothing short of suicidal; besides when you look out and examine all the evidence that suggests the world will implode well before all the world’s military first decide to go to war and the one left standing may not necessarily be smiling, at least not from ear to ear, why not continue to live as long as possible the “good life” while every so often doing as much as you can for the rest of your brothers that survived the DeBeers-Anglo American Cartel’s genocide in southern Sudan as this master of disguise mafia of mafia backed by the DAAC’s global military forces stole your country’s gold and oil and embroiled you all in yet another gold-oil related civil war?

So who am I, apart from understanding possibly better than anyone alive the financial reasons for going to war, to remind you yet again of the so very peaceful “blueprint” I provided that by having the 4,000 of you Lost Boys of the Sudan now living in the U.S. congregating outside the United Nations headquarters in New York City, the money laundering and intelligence gathering capital of the world, not only would those 8,000 of your brothers you all left behind suffering horribly in DAAC controlled refugee concentration camps be freed but in the next instant all the DAAC controlled genocides including those continuing in places like the Congo cease and if not then so you might have to spend say no more than a week camped outside the UN.

So what prevents you from at least giving it try?

But with not necessarily the healthiest food in your belly and more importantly enjoying currently relatively clean drinking water here in the U.S. so readily accessible just twisting a tap, again so very quickly forgetting what it felt like to be dying of thirst on that death march that had some 27,000 of you down to 12,000 in no time at all to speak of, you now find yourself “torn apart” battling not to focus on what is happening in the gold market but knowing full well it is a very different world with information such as what I am delivering traveling at Light-G-D-speed in “real time” to all 4 corners of the world, than it was back on January 21st 1980 when I had “passed the grade” to do a whole lot more than simply join the DAAC who own the capital and financial markets on 47th-Wall Street, Codiam Inc. the DAAC’s principal money laundering and intelligence gathering operation here in the U.S.

So have you thought of calling up Stephen Cohen of Codiam Inc. and asking him point blank what he thought of this s 209 odd word email I sent Black Hatter Martin Rapport’s one assistant on September 4th commemorating the 35th anniversary of DAAC sponsored PLO terrorists beginning to brutally murder 11 defenseless Israeli athletes at the 1972 MUNICh Olympic Games?

Naturally, it was “easy as pie” for the DAAC with of course support from all 3 Branches of the U.S. Government to begin crashing the gold market some 27 odd years ago causing hard working and logical thinkers around the world to not only lose their life savings invested in gold but all their hopes that “reason” would prevail amongst the so very misinformed masses, the result of all academia being so heavily co-opted-corrupted, failing to tell their corrupt politicians, “Enough is Enough!”

When the hard working masses throughout the world aware of the U.S. Constitution that at its core suggests rather strongly, “No taxation without representation”, become “familiar” with how easy it has been for the DAAC perfecting the art of war by “divide and conquer” and set up fictitious manmade borders for a century now to avoid paying anywhere close to their share of taxes for having so very poorly allocated the world’s resources when not embroiling the world’s poor in war, what you would expect if you were able to logically thought process helped by a healthy diet and exercise, would be “armed insurrection” which would of course play right in to the hands of the DAAC who rely on the world’s military to do their bidding and the world’s military are made up mostly of the poor who again are simply misinformed and not stupid.

Such “grunts” are not, however, all poorly schooled beginning with Israel’s Military Intelligence that should have you far less talkative than you were a moment ago when you were less talkative than a moment before realizing that you have no conscionable excuse for not congregating en masse outside the UN demanding the return of your gold and to be paid at fair market prices for the oil that was stolen.

Name me one individual who does not know what it means for the DAAC to have owned the drilling industry for the past 100 years!

Again, name me every doctor, lawyer, accountant, politician and academic who does not know what it means for the DAAC to have owned the drilling industry for the past century!

The U.S. so obviously still under the command and control of the DAAC and of course with more time on your hands now that you are some 21 odd years older than when becoming expert at burying your emaciated brothers explain to me how you think Scott Ziff transitioned from obviously at one point wanting to do good with this incredible repetitive-stress-injury diagnosis technology developed by one of my prior business partners and now fully acknowledging that he is all about “making money at any cost” all the while willing to place in black in white having sold his soul, not really all that much different to you although you have simply chosen the “deafening silence” routine.

It has been a rather full day already, getting up at the crack of dawn to take a quick jog along the beach before simply dunking my head in the Pacific Ocean returning just in time to our studio cliff house to make my wife who was not yet fully awake breakfast that included our customary cappuccino and toast topped with peanut butter and jelly with thinly sliced bananas on top.

As Marie Dion Gevisser began to get dressed for art class with Sebastian Capella I began for the first time to video myself explaining Edward Jay Epstein's The Diamond Invention when not only did I have to deal with the distraction of my half naked wife walking up the stairs which of course I captured on video but the construction workers who have been working on a major refurbishing despite our house only 15 years old began to arrive as well as MDG's 15 year old son just getting back from surfing, JoNathan's "life of leisure" only interrupted by having to find ways around dealing with his co-dependant Sperm Donor which isn't necessarily easier than your job of burying dead bones and skin, since at least they don't talk back.

Following my root canal treatment that began at 9:45 AM with my most awesome doctor-friend who allowed me to borrow and use a book gifted to him by his one "Gypsy" patient in one of my forthcoming VOD casts, perhaps part of the first 15 minute segment explaining the Diamond Invention, the most fascinating book that of course Hollywood blockbuster author Edward Jay Epstein wanted to author like he wanted "a hole in the head" let alone continue to write editorials for his DAAC bosses the Wall Street Journal, I went and had a manicure as well as a pedicure leaving behind both my credit card and drivers license since this Vietnamese operation only accept cash and checks which I didn't have with me and the US$15 I had in cash left me short some US$26.

I am still not able to talk all that well given the Novocain yet to wear off from this most excellent root canal treatment which was not only a most pleasant experience but again I left with this LIFE hard cover book titled CENTURY OF CHANGE. America in Pictures 1900-2000 which no surprise fails to mention the two so very important DAAC U.S. banker financed wars at the turn of the last century.

While I take off the rest of the afternoon following lunch with my awesome F-C wife who is currently on the phone speaking French with her mother in Montreal, Quebec and who let me know back in late December 2002 when I told her and her late husband who spent most of his career working for mining companies in Canada that we could expect to see gold that had remained rather dormant beginning its climb that now has the Canadian Dollar worth more than the U.S. Dollar causing many a Canadian with a Canadian passport to place ads in American newspapers offering what you think, take a look at the WSJ article that follows penned by PETER FRITSCH and KELLY EVANS of the WSJ and feel free to share with me your comments beginning by letting me know whether you disagree that these stooges are pulling out all stops not to panic us Americans and reassure us any way they can because that will make the U.S. Dollar drop real quick and consequently you can then answer your own question, "What is keeping the U.S. dollar dropping apart from our military not doing all that well despite people like you continuing to "sit on your hands"?"

Not to mention the email broadcast I put out last evening about the "little cat" Austrian California Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger who before arriving at DAAC controlled Hollywood spent time in DAAC South African Apartheid Regime controlled South Africa, married in to the DAAC Kennedy clan and is now giving their opinion on how the Conservative Party in Great Britain can regain power leaving of course the Chinese and Israelis who "live to learn" left not exactly "speechless".

To mention little of gold last trading at US$746.70 some US$400 more than when others apart from Rachel Dion first began keeping track on December 31st 2002 following my wife's first ever email to the "outside world" all to a group of gold traders that began, "It seems that Mr. Gevisser might in fact be on to something..."

To mention in passing that Marie Dion Gevisser first got to know me back in late December 1993 when I was completing a number of sensitive assignments for publisher Randolph Hearst who was back then the Chairman of the Board of DAAC controlled Hearst Corporation and the last surviving son of the original William Randolph Hearst who got his "kick start" in the publishing business following his father's success, as you would have guessed, in the mining industry.

You would agree that while the "purchasing power" of this US$100 travelers check signed by Randolph Hearst who passed away in 2000 is not what it used to be and very likely soon if I don't cash it in or better yet use it towards purchasing from my wife this masterpiece seascape oil painting of two boys playing in the sand at the water's edge which MDG says has godly master painter Sebastian Capella's brush stokes in the most critical areas, it might still serve as a "prop" in one of our 15 minute VOD cast segments when I again run out of things to say although you would of course understand that I gathered a number of things besides for Mr. and Mrs. Hearst simply reimbursing me for my out-of-pocket expenses which people like my uncle David Gevisser, the American head of the DAAC who some 18 months later I met with in Johannesburg, South Africa when for again good reason I was offered for the second time to take over from him.

Not to mention that you opening up more clinics to help the disenfranchised Sudanese doesn't simply become more futile every day as the U.S. currency simply cannot continue to be propped up the hard working and very AWARE Chinese whose only concern is that our ethnic cleansing civil war that President Bill "Rhodes-DeBeers Scholar" Clinton referred to at the end of his bizarre Caltech University speech on January 20th, 2000 does not result in the DAAC CIA lighting up fires "in support of our south east Asia policy, you NOW KNOW exactly what caused the need for those clinics BECAUSE YOU CAME FROM IT!

You are the "favored slave!"
 Grab my hand while you can!
 Shalom,
 Gary

How Economy Could

Survive Oil At $100 a Barrel

Compared to 1980, U.S. Is More Able to Handle Once-Unthinkable Rise
 By PETER FRITSCH and KELLY EVANS
 September 29, 2007; Page A1

The world economy has managed, with some indigestion, to swallow the rise of oil prices past $80 a barrel. How well could it survive $100 a barrel?

The answer is quite well -- so long as several conditions still hold true. The price rise would probably have to be gradual. Inflation couldn't get so bad as to force big interest-rate hikes. Oil-rich nations would need to pump their profits back into U.S. and European economies.

All of this has happened so far. The happy confluence may continue, though fears remain strong that high energy prices will tip the U.S. into recession.

A host of factors, including tight oil supplies and a weak U.S. dollar, suggest that oil prices have further to rise. Some analysts continue to believe that oil is destined to reach an all-time high, as measured in today's dollars, of more than $101 a barrel. The record was set in 1980. On Friday in New York, the benchmark crude-oil futures price closed down $1.22, or 1.5%, to finish at $81.66, a little more than $2 off the all-time high, not adjusting for inflation.

High oil prices could lead to ugly consequences if they hit consumers' pocketbooks -- especially in the U.S., where the housing slump is already hurting the economy. Consumer spending has been the primary engine of growth in the U.S. in recent years.

Target Corp. was among the major retailers in the last week cutting sales forecasts. Target expects September sales at stores open at least a year to rise just 1.5% to 2.5%, down from an earlier expectation of 4% to 6% growth.

For all the concern, the world today is better equipped to swallow expensive oil than it was when Jimmy Carter was installing solar panels and a wood-burning stove in the White House.

The main reason has to do with what some call the Wal-Mart effect. For every extra dollar taken from drivers' pockets at the pump in the form of higher prices in recent years, low-cost exporters from China and elsewhere have put roughly $1.50 back in the form of cheaper retail goods. Even at today's near-record prices, U.S. households today spend less than 4% of their disposable income at the pump, vs. over 6% in 1980.

Current prices are also a reflection of a strong economy, not an oil embargo or war in the Middle East. Since a market-share war between Saudi Arabia and Venezuela flooded the market with oil and drove prices to below $11 a barrel in 1998, oil prices have risen nearly eight-fold. During that run, the global economy grew roughly 5% each year.

Strong growth in places like China helps take some of the edge off the oil-price blow for U.S. and European companies such as Detroit's Big Three auto makers. Many emerging markets are hitting a "takeoff" stage, where per-capita income reaches a level that sparks serious auto demand, says Ellen Hughes-Cromwick, Ford Motor Co.'s chief economist. Growth in emerging markets is a "structural development" that is "less sensitive to oil-price changes," she says.

"There's a more relaxed attitude now," said Daniel Yergin, a noted oil historian and chairman of Cambridge Energy Research Associates. At a recent event promoting Alan Greenspan's new memoir, Mr. Yergin asked the former Fed chief on stage if $80 oil was a concern. "He basically shrugged and said, 'Not so far,'" Mr. Yergin recalls.

Economists see global growth slowing but still chugging along at a relatively healthy 3% this year and next. High oil prices also mean more money for oil-producing nations such as Russia and Saudi Arabia to invest globally. "If resource owners are now getting a bigger piece of the pie to spend and invest, then $100 oil shouldn't be a problem" in the absence of a U.S. recession, says independent energy economist Philip Verleger Jr. "And that investment is happening."

Fundamental Shift

Such sanguine views, while they are far from universal, reflect a fundamental shift in economists' understanding of how energy prices affect the economy.

Historically, oil prices have doubled or trebled in a matter of weeks because of sudden and sharp supply disruptions, such as those in 1980 following the Iranian revolution and the outbreak of the Iran-Iraq war. That prompted the Fed to raise interest rates sharply in an effort to head off a spiral of inflation.

Current Fed chairman Ben Bernanke has spent a lot of time trying to understand such shocks. In 1997, he analyzed the effects of sharp rise in prices during the oil shocks of 1973-75, 1980-1982 and 1990-91 in the Brookings Papers on Economic Activity. His surprising conclusion: The Fed's cure for high oil prices was worse than the disease.

"The majority of the impact of an oil price shock on the real economy is attributable to the central bank's response to the inflationary pressures engendered by the shock," he wrote. Today, that view is fairly mainstream among central bankers.

Mr. Bernanke's Fed recently responded to the subprime mortgage crisis by cutting benchmark interest rates for the first time in four years. By implication, the Fed was saying it was more worried about the fallout from credit-market gloom than about the risk of inflation. At a time of record energy prices, that's a risky but educated bet.

Growing fuel efficiency could also blunt the blow of higher prices. James Barnes, a Union Pacific Corp. spokesman, says the railroad has bought more fuel-efficient locomotives and trained engineers to operate trains in ways that conserve fuel. "From a macro level, we would anticipate that rising oil costs will make us more competitive [with trucks] and potentially drive more business our way," Mr. Barnes says.

Engine of Growth

In China, the engine of growth on which many are counting, other energy sources can make up for oil. China uses oil for only 21% of its energy needs, with most of the rest coming from coal. Unlike in the U.S., where imported oil goes to fill people's gasoline tanks, China mainly uses oil in industrial settings, where coal may be an alternative. Greater coal use, however, would also exacerbate China's already serious pollution problem and speed up emissions of gases that contribute to global warming.

Still, some fear the impact of $100-a-barrel oil would be too powerful for the U.S. to overcome. "If we aren't already headed for a recession, it could push us in that direction," says Bill Zollars, chairman and chief executive officer of YRC Worldwide Inc., a large trucking company based in Overland Park, Kan. "With a very fragile economy like we have now, this could be another burden for the consumer and the business community."

Mr. Zollars says shipment volumes at YRC, which serves many retailers and manufacturers, have dropped to 2003 levels. "We are not seeing the kind of volume we would normally expect" ahead of the Christmas retail season, he adds.

Fall in Demand

Higher oil prices could hit the beleaguered auto and airline industries. Detroit is still digging out from the fall in demand for sport-utility vehicles caused by the climb in gasoline prices. Paul Ballew, General Motors Corp.'s top sales analyst, explained sluggish industry sales earlier this month by citing in part high fuel prices, which he called "effectively a tax on U.S. households."

For now, most economists expect oil prices will stay high through next year. An unexpected hurricane in the Gulf or a sudden disruption to oil flows from a big producer like Iran or Mexico could push oil to $100, they say.

Demand is chugging along. The Paris-based International Energy Agency sees world oil demand in the fourth quarter rising by 2.8%, or 2.3 million barrels a day from a year ago, to nearly 88 million barrels a day.

Of course, those forecasts could go awry if the U.S. economy tanks and brings Europe and Japan along with it. Then demand would likely ease, and oil prices could fall, perhaps significantly. And then, the world would have something else to worry about.

Subject: BEING NON-CONFRONTATIONAL IS NO EXCUSE FOR BAD JUDGMENT -.....
...corrupt... MaryRose "The Witch" Cusimano.... DEMAND THE RETURN OF ALL THE...

You are of course entitled to think although you haven't said that MaryRose "The Witch" Cusimano "screwed" me and perhaps you have thought it smart to now "bite your tongue", accept the fact that you are also scum, given how very patient, painstaking and methodical I have been in "exposing" all "corruption" that "crosses my path".

You may not, however, fully understand the fact that from a relatively young age I figured out that it is all a "game" this "game of life" that like chess is "getting your opponent to play to your advantage" although behind the scenes guiding each one of us is this extraordinary smart and most vengeful Superior Being who has no problem with being "questioned" but once armed with the Knowledge-Information-light and one decides not to do anything with such KIL worse yet use it to your advantage to take advantage of another human being then it is just a question of time before the "Hand of God" descends forth with a most powerful outstretched hand and begins to destroy your every being beginning with your first born who once "aware" will see fit to kill you worst of all with words.

Sticks and stones break bones but words kill!

And for those who are childless the vengeance is no less.

Below is the chronology of what I believe is all our communications and please feel free to let me know if I have left out anything especially if you think it is relevant to this BLOG of ours.

Unlike you, I did exhaustive "due diligence" on MaryRose Cusimano before deciding to "separate" given how her "slight of hand" was not simply "immaterial" but there was never any hard evidence of her acting fraudulently to the point that it hurt others more than herself which is of course no excuse for tolerating even the slightest "misbehavior".

BEING NON-CONFRONTATIONAL IS NO EXCUSE FOR BAD JUDGMENT - Marie Dion Gevisser

Moreover, I could see how her great “gifts” whether it was just her own “feel” or the extreme sensitivity of the equipment that her engineer husband invented was actually helping not only those great numbers of people feigning soft tissue injuries which you would know is some 75% of all injuries causing an already out-of-control lack of responsible American electorate playing increasingly the “victim role”, but for those who were genuinely injured her technology was proving beyond a shadow of a doubt to help such individuals recover both physically and emotionally and be back on their feet in no time.

At the same time I was well aware that not only was the “road to hell paved with good intentions” there were simply too many of us causing for the environment much greater harm than even those feigning their illness which was costing the hard working taxpayers nothing short of an “arm and a leg”.

Remember again, I figured out when just 15 years of age and knowing that it would be a “shoe in” for me joining any of Israel’s Special Forces units beginning with the Israeli Defense Forces most brutal Air Force that I was not the only person in the world who had figured out this “game of life” was one most extraordinary “test of wills” with very dire consequences for the losers were they to lose sight of the “big picture”.

My questioning of very senior Israeli military officers very close to David Ben Gurion why not only was the modern State of Israel “in bed” with the Nazi National Party of South Africa aka the 3rd Reich’s Southern Division but why Israel would allow Jewish crooks in the Diaspora to find a “safe haven” in Israel under the utter nonsense “Laws of Return”, had them realizing that I didn’t get off a boat just yesterday despite the fact that I never got to meet my great maternal grandmother Nechie Badash, as close a confidante of David Ben Gurion as it gets, and who returned in 1929 from Tel-Aviv, Israel to England to raise my highly deceptive Royal Mater-Mother.

Moreover, my in depth questioning of how it would be possible for me to “trust my intelligence” knowing that “power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely” and that everyone I knew growing up in the hell hole of heavily corrupt Durban, South Africa with the exception of my two grandfathers were singularly focused on “Money Power”, that it would be just a question of time before I would inevitably be “sacrificed” under the doctrine of “The end justifies the means”, had me without a word or for that matter expression coming from these very senior military officials asking about their knowledge of all prior “breakdowns” in “intelligence” which once informed of the colossal Operation Suzannah debacle inevitably led to the so very logical question of why didn’t the very well equipped and informed Jewish Underground headed up by David Ben Gurion and Menachem Begin simply take out the “bottom of the barrel” Little Corporal Hitler?

Today of course even a moron such as yourself and why not mention Harvard professor Alan Dershowitz as well as each and every member of every faculty of every Ivy League University in the world understands perfectly well that Hitler’s replacement would have been, most likely, a whole lot worse, just look at the genocides that followed the DAAC Nazis winning both World Oil War I and II.

You will remember that at the 11th hour and 59th minute Hitler decided against invading England which would have been as “easy as pie” given the DAAC Nazis’ infiltration of the British War Ministry, instead choosing to follow in the footsteps of Napoleon and attack Russia.

One could argue that this colossal military “mistake” was just “fate” or the “Hand of God” at work although I would simply prefer that you calm yourself by believing that in fact the Jewish Underground had a very significant hand to play in each and every battle once they figured out that the DAAC, the mafia of mafia, the counterfeiters of counterfeiters, the bankers to all world’s central banks such as the U.S. Federal Reserve, were playing all sides of every war beginning with the very first oil war commonly known as World War I.

You will recall that the best friend the Jewish people ever had was Christian Afrikaner Field Marshall Jan Smuts who knew Cecil Rhodes, the founder of the DAAC better than any human being dead or alive and when second-in-command to Churchill was in constant contact with the Jewish Underground.

Those who know don’t talk.

Those who know know better than to take notes or write letters or talk on telephones instead know only to use the most trusted emissaries to carry the information out of one horse’s mouth in to the other.

Besides for what was eventually shared with me the only “telltale” signs we have of Jan Smuts risking his life to save half the Jewry of Europe being “sold down the drain” by others including their Jewish competitors fighting amongst themselves for everything under the sun including better seats in their synagogues was his decision to go along with a kibbutz in Israel being named after him in 1932, some 7 odd years prior to the outbreak of World Oil War II which of course was just a continuation of World Oil War I.

The instant I got my “arms around” MaryRose Cusimano actually “playing it fast and loose” I immediately confronted her while of course offering her a “way out” especially since the fraud she had perpetrated was not only “immaterial” but it was against Fred DeLuca who himself had very “blackened hands” that I was able to prove beyond a shadow of a doubt.

Moreover, I had lined up all the financing that given how big a problem insurance carriers like AIG were having with their out-of-control workers compensation claims would have meant everyone including MaryRose and Fred DeLuca would have come out “smelling like roses”.

Call it again, the “Hand of God” but MaryRose with her out-of-control ego simply couldn’t admit to me that she had inflated her sales which again were totally immaterial despite my laboring to explain to her that her admission would not in the least bit affect the financing that was now being lined up led by Newell Starks, an officer of Citicorp Venture Corporation, the very successful leverage buyout arm of Citigroup.

And of course I had many “back up” positions in the event that Citigroup didn’t move fast enough, which of course you would understand from being today so familiar with my bio.

One of those positions was to simply force a meeting with Fred Deluca who while very pissed off with me was intelligent enough not to let emotion get in the way of good business-personal.

Instead I decided to simply 'back off' and let MaryRose "hang herself" and all those choosing her company, first by going back to Fred who she had forgotten had screwed her "royally".

Once you understand the ingenious mind of our Maker it is so much easier to get along with everyone so long as you don't make them aware of your "gifts" which of course will disappear in the blink of an eyelid when you fail to confront evil each and every step of the way in this most extraordinary journey of life.

I had left behind me a so very easy trail to follow beginning by having you simply contact journalists like Diana Henriques of the New York Times and asking this corrupt journalist what prevented her and her buddy Professor Joe Grundfest of Stanford University and formerly of the Federal Reserve to assist you with the "money trail" that of course leads all the way back to their DAAC bosses.

Does your "do not care" explain that you may in fact be corrupt and/or incompetent than MaryRose Cusimano and yet you still feel the "need" to call me "crazy"?

What measures besides for "relying" on me are you doing to bring Public International Attention to this "witch hunt" of yours?

BTW were you aware of the judgment Derrick Beare of Investec had against MaryRose Cusimano?

When doing your "due diligence" did you think it important to investigate her prior criminal record or did you simply see nothing but Dollar signs clouding your vision?

Something that I have come to realize. I dont believe the judge overturned the decision based on the technology but because it was not entered into court as evidence as it should have been.. Just my opinion but nowhere do I see that the actual technology made the difference. I could be wrong.

You could ask the same questions of a long line of people, including Fred Deluca. One would not care about your opinion as your name was on nothing that was produced to me. The fact that someone may have mentioned you did not give you ownership in anything. I say this only as fact and not to be confrontational.

I would appreciate knowing given my rather high visibility on the Internet.

I am assuming that you were not only aware of Judge Jack B. Weinstein's decision overturning the landmark repetitive-stress-injury award in late April 1997 but the fact that for "good reason" he mentioned my name twice in his rather important decision.

The reason I bring this up is because of you earlier mentioning that the only thing the "witch" had to say about me in reference to my question to you,, "Had she ever mentioned my name during the time you worked with her?", your answer, "You were an asshole who would always wear a wrinkled shirt and her mother had to iron" which may in fact have been sufficiently "bizarre" that you would not think to question her any further?

To further illustrate my point when you, your family and friends were investing approximately US$300,000 in MaryRose "The Witch" Cusimano's company and getting "new patents" and I assume getting some sort of "ownership interest" in return did you not think to ask what this "asshole" as well as Fred Deluca who also didn't get off a boat just yesterday had to say about anything including why the "witch" would think she could so very easily "distract" you with a "wrinkled shirt" story even if it was only to have me explain how I afforded a shirt on our backs, not to mention my extraordinary "footprint" on the Internet?

Begin by telling me as much as you know about her current funding including sales and profitability.

2nd who are her “backers”?

3rd is she married?

4th is there any contact with her first husband Michael who was the engineer?

5th Do you know if she has heard from DeLuca who stepped in to help her when I decided she was a “lost cause”.

6th you need to let me know what you don't want me revealing to the world.

7th would you know if she admits to reading all my emails bearing in mind that she does know that had she simply admitted to overstating her sales figures long before I got involved she would today be worth probably in excess of a couple of billion dollars?

8th What caused your “breakup” and do you have a claim against her and if so are you planning on pursuing it?

For the last 5 years I have received your emails and for the most part deleted them thinking that you were just crazy. However, I need to give credit where credit is due. By me corresponding to you about a mutual woman x-business partner, a person doing their due diligence, contacted me and the results is I believe, we saved him from throwing money into the female money pit. That's it.
By the way, I still think you are crazy.

What do you do for a living?
